Our Lady of

the Atomic Age

As teen-agers of today we are facing two alternatives: a peaceful, united world, one and indivisible; or a burning, conflagration, a chaos. What has brought this two-fold picture into focus? A tiny element of God's creation, the atom. Ever since Albert Einstein, in his theory of relativity, his $e=mc^2$, released the potentialities of the atom, man has discovered its fundamental characteristic, power. This power has been used in the past for two purposes, good and evil. It is good when mankind uses it to aid us; it is evil when he makes it destroy.

We students, looking to our future, want to face one which promises peace. To what other person could we teen-agers of the atomic age better turn than to Our Blessed Mother for peace and protection? Mary, whose name signifies power and protection, is our guiding star. Our atomic world rests in her hands. For this reason, we lovingly dedicate our 1958 PHILOTHEAN to Mary under the title we have given her, Our Lady of the Atomic Age.

May she ever guide men in power that they may make wise use of God's creation, the atom. With her assistance we can look to a bright future, an atomically peaceful world.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

September 17, 1957

Dear Miss Gianotti:

The President was glad to learn that this year's Philothean is dedicated to the peaceful use of the atom. It is encouraging to know that the students of Providence High School are concerned with this vital issue.

The role of the atom is a subject uppermost in the mind and heart of the President. A little more than a month ago, he signed a treaty marking the start of the International Atomic Agency, considered by many to be a most promising step in the right direction.

It is a pleasure to send the Philothean a copy of the remarks he made on this historic occasion.

Sincerely,

Frederic Fox

PRICE DANIEL
GOVERNOR

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
AUSTIN, TEXAS

TO THE STUDENTS OF PROVIDENCE HIGH SCHOOL:

The proper and peaceful use of atomic energy offers a bright future for mankind. World conflict with massive atomic weapons offers misery and disaster, and quite possibly the end of civilization.

All of us pray that the Nations of the world will take the peaceful course, and ask Divine Guidance in the development of this wonderful new source of energy.

Providence High School is to be commended for dedicating its 1958 annual to Atoms for Peace. I am sure that peace-loving people everywhere join in your prayers that the atom will never again be unleashed in war, but will be used for the benefit of mankind.

Sincerely,

Price Daniel

San Antonio, Texas

Dear Miss Gianotti:

In harnessing the atom, mankind has created the instrument of its own destruction and, at the same time, the potential for its greatest benefit.

Unfortunately the atom was first used for destruction. Therefore, its destructive character has received wide attention. The beneficial uses of the atom extend to every facet of human progress. Medical science, agriculture, and the production of power are but a few of these uses.

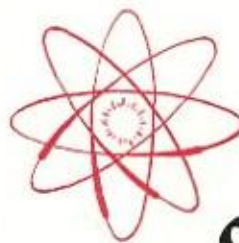

Coincident with the publication of the Philothean, dedicated to the peaceful uses of the atom, the first session of the International Atomic Energy Agency is being held in Vienna, Austria. This new international agency will be devoted exclusively to the promotion of the peaceful uses of atomic energy. This agency was suggested and inspired by the Government of the United States. The dedication of your annual to this high purpose will bring closer to our people the boundless benefits of the atom.

I congratulate Providence High School and the staff of the Philothean upon their timely dedication of the annual to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

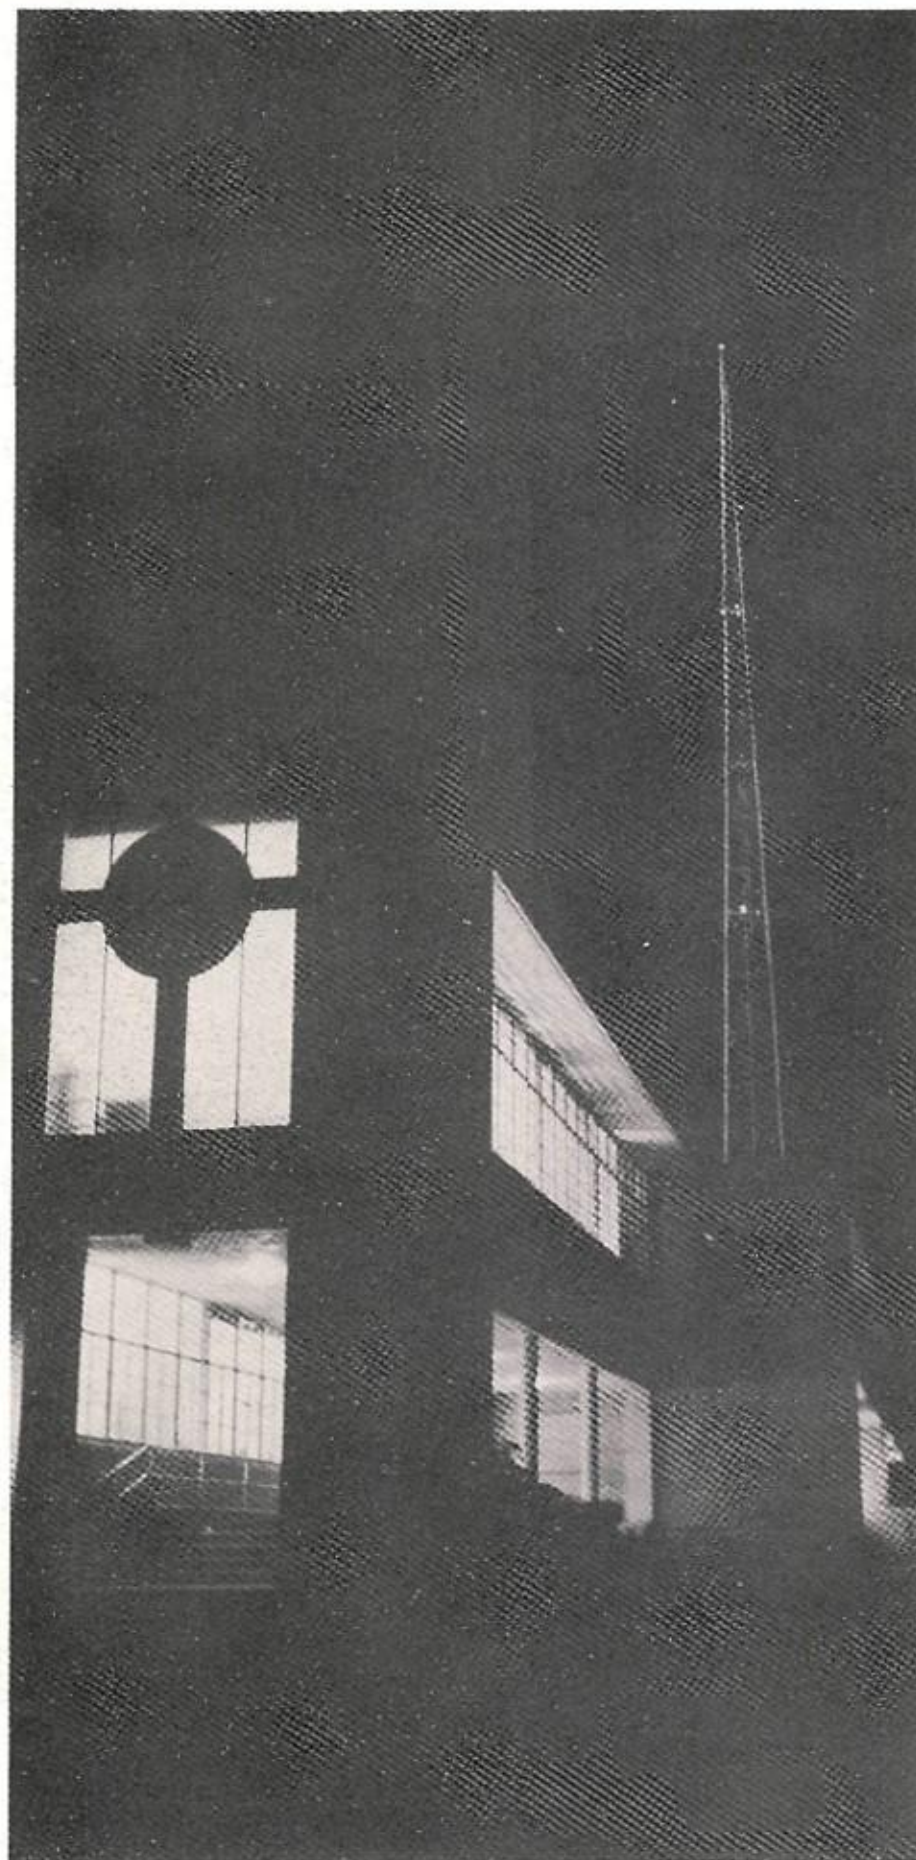

Sincerely,

Paul J. Kilday

Seniors Look to

The Senior Class officers—Mary Ellen Koch, secretary; Bobbe Billmeier, president; Gay Jordan, vice-president; and Pat Towers, treasurer—view the future through the instruments of the present. Their hopes for the future are definitely tied in with the peaceful use of atoms in industry, farming, medicine, and research.

Three spirits seem to haunt the Senior Class in the walls of Providence. They are by name, religion, academics, and "spoils," for the Seniors have excelled in each category with the same driving spirit behind each of the 138 members. The spirits of religion and academics are enkindled in the classrooms while the spirit of "spoils" is carried into extracurricular activities: sports, magazine drives, the annual queen contest, dances, Color Day, and the more numerous activities at Providence in which the Seniors have captured first place. Through these three spirits, the Seniors have managed, with quite a struggle, to stay on top, and upon leaving PHS, pass these aspects on to the rest of Providence, not in three separate titles, but merging these three spirits into one--namely, School Spirit.

Discover Atoms in Medicine

The aspect of science in medicine is, for the most part, centered in the atom and its uses. And as medicine plays an integral part in daily life, scientific machines, such as this X-ray which employs radiation, will play a leading role in atoms for peace. Pictured standing around this insurance of future good health are the Junior class officers—Judy Poston, vice-president; Joyce Poston, secretary; Beverly Volz, president; and Judy Elder, treasurer.

Religion Provides Basic Foundation for Junior Subjects

Even with religion, English and journalism, American History, and civics, Spanish and Latin, shorthand and typing to keep them busy, juniors find time to plan successful dances, lead in sports, and hold the title "busiest class in the school." It seems that whatever this class does, it does with all the enthusiasm and unity needed to keep it as active as the atom itself.

A tremendous job the peaceful atom can perform is the education of future generations in science and other fields. The sophomore class officers—Nancy Beissner, treasurer; Margaret Quinn, secretary; Amy Klein, president; and Sylvia Zamora, vice-president—might well be thinking of the day when they themselves may receive higher education with the aid of the atom.

The utopia of complete peace is as yet not a reality, but we as Sophomores like to think that during the course of the year, we have in a minute way attained some comprehension of this type of peace. We have delved deep into its mysteries in our subjects, especially religion. We are now better able to understand our government's problems of maintaining these amicable relations through our newly offered subject, civics. All our other subjects-English, biology, math or algebra, typing I, and Latin or Spanish-help in some way to achieve a better understanding of peace and the methods needed to maintain it.

Freshmen Gain Knowledge of Atom Through Books

Freshman officers—Holly Debner, treasurer; Kitty Veltman, vice-president; Carol Howard, president; and Tommie Loverde, secretary—discover, as most of the world has, how little we know of the atom's potentialities. They find one of the best ways to learn of the atom is to read about it and then to apply what is read by promoting the peaceful uses of the atom.

Atom-Power in Nuclear Power A Clubs - Spirit in School Spirit

Just as the atom is a source of great power to a huge industry by its energy and its activity, the organizations of Providence are a powerful element in our school life through their constant efforts. Heading three of these groups are Virginia Kutac, president of the Marian Choristers; Rita Gianotti, editor of the Philothean; and Carol Jean Braden, editor of the Pro-Vue.

Pro-Vue Presents

Leading the progress of the Pro-Vue staff is Editor Carol Jean Braden.

"I counted the right number first try!"

Preparing the latest Pro-Vue for distribution are Eileen Doyle, Carol Ann Singer, and Theresa Gros.

"But dahling...."

Interviewing is an important element in the life of the reporter. Here, Syleta Hornsby, Sarah Joeris, and Carol Blakey practice their tactics on a sophisticated celebrity portrayed by Dyanne Dingel.

A love of writing and creative abilities stimulates the seventeen Pro-Vue reporters to pen point the news in a modern fashion to fellow PHS'ers. The paper, which is published seven times a year, is under the sponsorship of Sister Mary Thecla.

Streamlined News

"Let's just dump some of this mess-huh, guy?"

Carol Jean Braden, editor, Rita Gianotti, and Judy Britton prepare the dummy sheet for publication.

"These Nicky's Notes are pretty cute, if I say so myself!"

Copy reading seems to be amusing to Marie Ripps and Sherry Burch as they check their article for mistakes.

"No wonder the Pro-Vue staff always leads in the paper drive!"

The clock says 3 p.m. and Doris Juenke, Joyce Poston, and Kathleen Cuny get into a mad rush as they try to meet their deadline.

"There's the game and exams, and, well, just....please?"

In chapel, raising their hearts to God, are Judy Elder, Ellen Rolf, Rosemary Knight, Betty Pack, Jo Ella Osborn, and Gail Voelker.

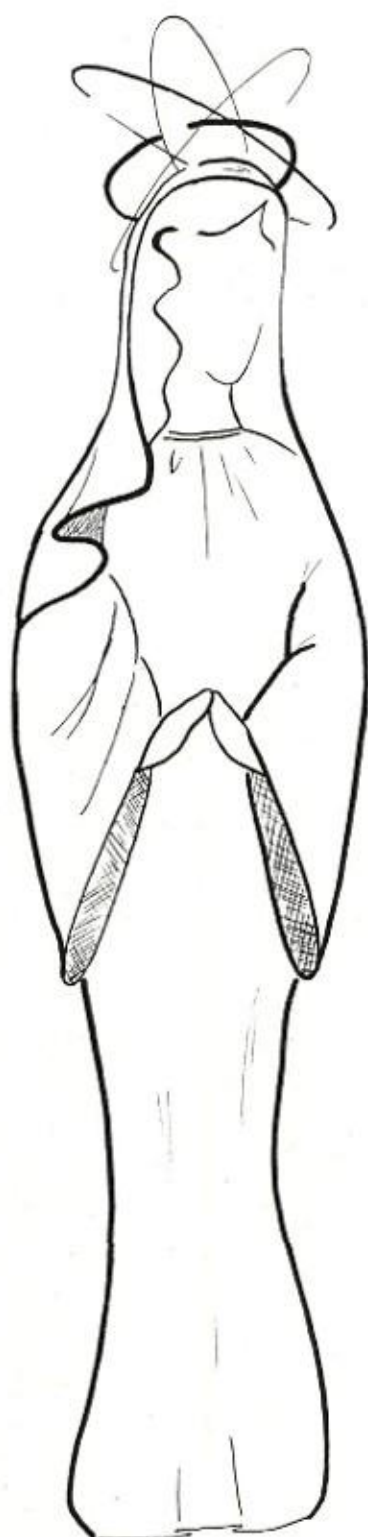

"Keep smiling. The hall monitors are looking!"

Ellen Rolf and Judy Elder cordially invite the student body to assist at daily Mass.

"St. stands for street, doesn't it? No?"
Mary Jo Grothues, Josie Dominguez and Rosemary Berlon compare interview sheets after their Sodality lecture.

'Seven Sunday Week'-Sodality Standard

Sodalists realize that every way of life must have four elements; it must have a goal, a program, a model and a dedication. The Sodality is not merely a club; it is a way of life having for its goal, the possession of God in heaven; for its program, the Sodality Rule Book; for its model, Mary; and for its dedication, putting the Sodality before all else. The Sodality members achieve this way of life by daily Mass and Communion, meditation, spiritual reading and consultation. By faithfully observing their Sodality rules, Sodalists are better able to sanctify themselves and their neighbors and to defend their Church, thus bringing themselves steps closer to possessing God.

"In preparation for the great daily Feast..."

Counting hosts and filling the Ciborium for Communion at daily Mass in the library are Mary Ann Bettge and Hattie Grohman, assistant Sacristans.

"Think you can catch it from here?"

Gail Voelker, President of the Sodality, and Jo Ella Osborn prepare to put up a bulletin board for the Sodality.

Student Council 'Cleans - Up' Entertainment

"Santa's little helpers."

Class Presidents Carol Howard, freshman; Amy Klein, sophomore; Beverly Volz, junior; and Bobbe Billmeier, senior; put the finishing touches on the Student Council Jesse Tree.

"And here I am at one year."

Student Council representatives Vincy Ruffo, Judy Britton, Martha Klein, and Carol Kettler put together the Student Council scrapbook.

"But you still haven't told us about Charlie Brown, Linda!"

Running for Student Council offices in '58-59 school year are; Shirley Gallagher, vice-president, Linda Winters, secretary, Frances Shipman, secretary, and Ann Whitehead, president.

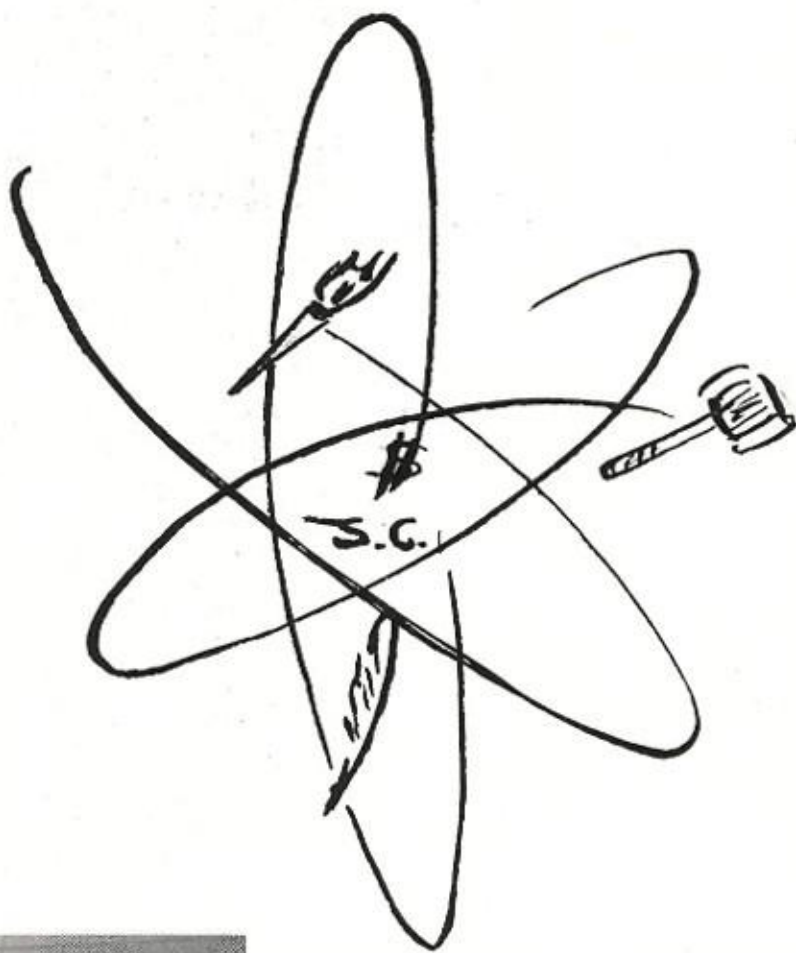

"But where will we sit?"

Student Council officers—Marty Vollmer, vice-president; Janet Kee, president; Patti Popp, secretary; and Carolyn Strawn, treasurer—prepare to leave for the Student Council convention in Galveston.

"And for only a nickel more you have humming in the background."

Buying and selling singing valentines at the Student Council valentine booth are Barbara Small, Lucille Trevina, Sylvia DeLeon, and Frances Burkeen.

This year the Student Council has as its main project the raising of entertainment standards throughout San Antonio. Among the other activities of the Student Council are the Back to School Dance, Valentine Booth, and Courtesy Week.

"You mean we were supposed to count them?"

Student Council members—Lorrie Barnett, Joan Quasso, and Beatrice Braun—count stamps to send to the foreign missions.

CCD, GAA Create Foundation for Christianity, Good Sportsmanship

"Whistle while you work," offers Judy Britton (the unworried (?) secretary) to president Carmen Ruiz and vice-president Elizabeth Small while Rose Mary Rendon looks on.

"P stands for pretty, practical and PROVIDENCE"

Envious Barbara Carle admires the hard won letters of Barbara Flood and Jan Remling.

The newest fad at PHS is the newly formed Girls Athletic Association which has for its purpose the encouragement of participation in sports. Any PHS'er may obtain a letter by meriting 25 points through playing in or officiating at intramural games.

"Dead seriousness, that's what we have at our meetings!"

Whatever it is that's keeping this group cracking smiles must be colossal. Very few meetings bring about this much mirth.

The C.C.D., composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors and sponsored by Sister Mary Patrick, assists in bringing the light of faith to those unfortunate children who would otherwise be unable to obtain this training. The task is time-consuming and requires much effort, but the rewards are compensating.

"Well, I guess we know who's going to win this game!"

Sister Patrick presides over a C.C.D. bunco party. Father is the club's honored guest.

"Now, our next problem is how we are going to get these books untied?"

C.C.D. President Billie Ruth Pearce 'shows off' the club's book week display which tied for third honorable mention.

"Yep, these used calendars surely come in handy!"

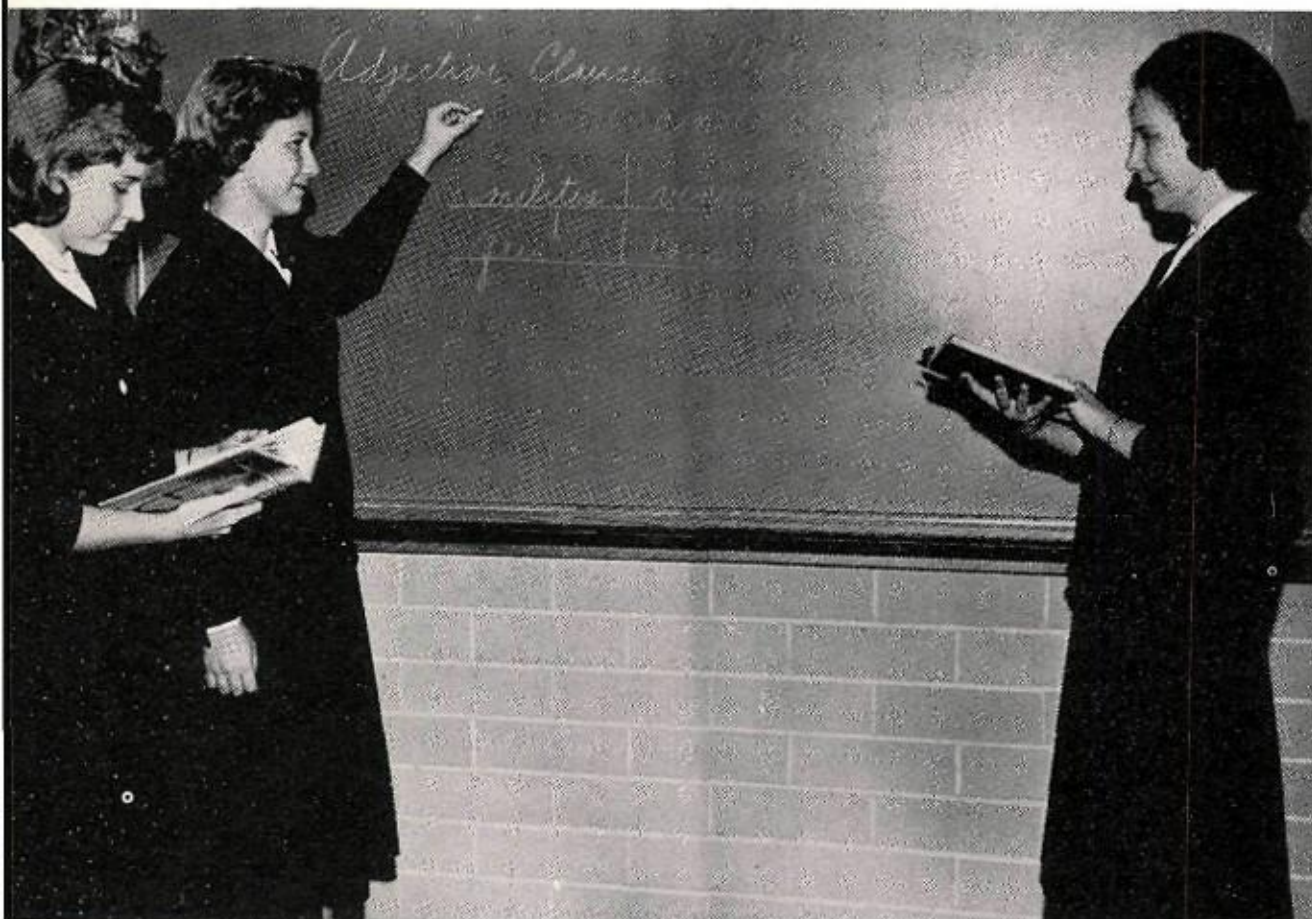

Getting their catechism class material in order are C.C.D. officers Mary Esther Arechiga, vice-president; Betty Ann Dietel, chairman of helpers; Billie Ruth Pearce, president; Sylvia DeLeon, chairman of teachers, and Gay Jordan, secretary.

Observing the Old World through the eyes of the New World, the Latin Club aroused live interest in the dead language by putting up wise old Latin sayings in the halls and offering a prize to the girl who translated the largest number of them. Also, their liturgical posters brought out the meaning of Latin as it is used today in the Mass.

"Yep, that's what the book says!"

Mary Jane Boring, Barbara Christenson, and Sandra Anthony take a lesson in using adjective clauses in Latin.

Latin, Speech Clubs Language,

"You just can't get them kind no more!"

Promote Old - New

"And my figures show that we are-- $30 in the hole!"

Officers of the Speech Club—Kitty Fischer, Anna Marie Pena, Sarah Joeris, Charlotte Poerner, and Alice Feille—discuss plans for the next meeting.

"Poor little kitten, she lost her whiskers!"

Carol Singer and Mary Jane Obregon make up Dyanne Dingle to portray the cat in the one act play, "Parade at Devil's Bridge."

"And the fish really was t-h-i-s big!"

Barbara Fournier practices up on her charades before Kathleen Drifill, Barbara Lutz, Mary Jeanne Hoffman and Sandra MacQuellan for the Speech Club Christmas party.

Grease paint, bright lights, and even brighter dialogue whirl from the busy schedule of the Speech Club of Providence High. From the informal speeches given at each meeting, to learning the ropes and rules of the stage, worth-while speech habits are fostered, possible dramatic talent is encouraged, and the explosive energy of ambitious members is released in the projects of the club, which, though few, are large in enjoyment and experience.

Scientists of Tomorrow Depend on Students of Today

The Science Club here at PHS has as its main aim to foster an interest in the now prominent field of science. The destiny of tomorrow depends on our junior citizens of today and on the fields they enter. The eyes of Uncle Sam are focused on these scientific-minded citizens.

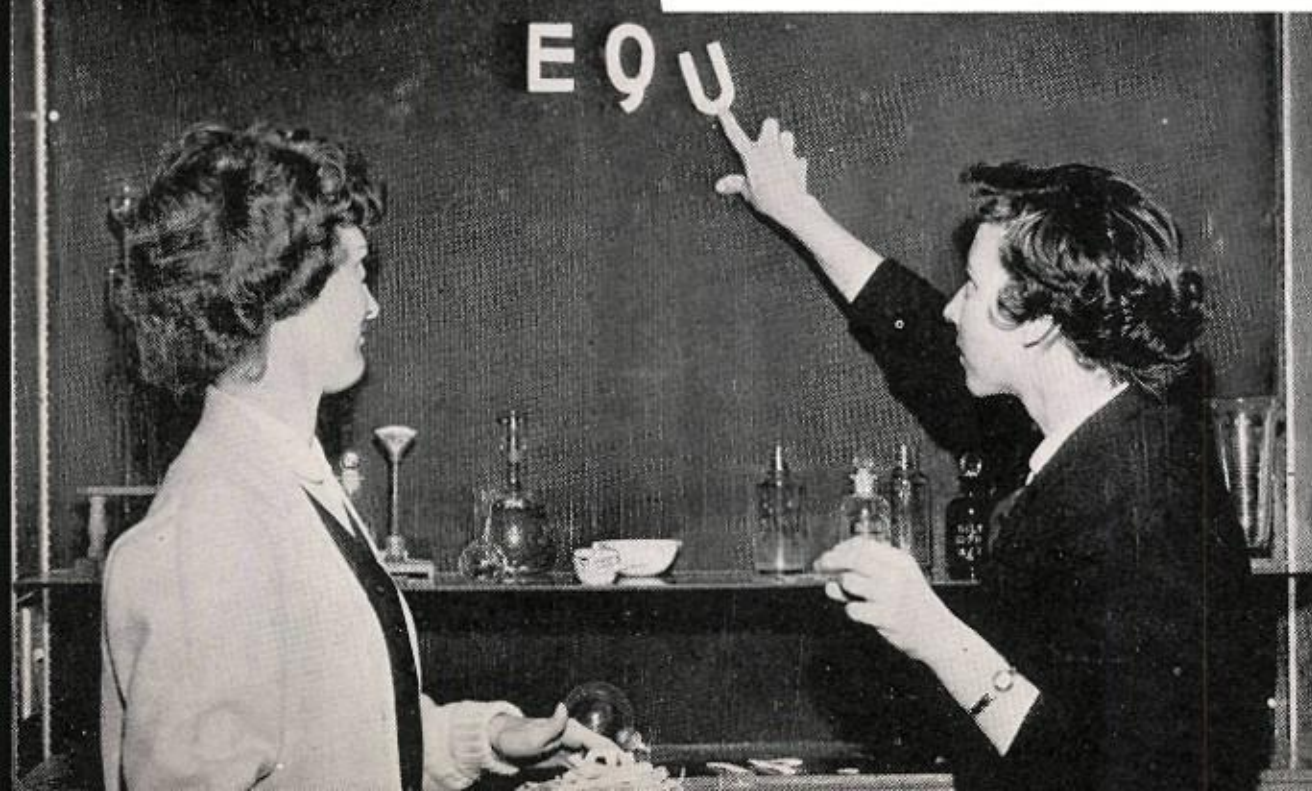

"No-o-o-o, I don't think our treasury could stand another bill!"
Officers of the Science Club—Barbara Gramer, president; Cookie Meyer, vice-president; Mary Ellen Kock, secretary; and Marlene Reinhard, treasurer—look over the financial status of the club.

"Just what Uncle Sam is looking for!"

With the confidence of an old hand in the laboratory, Marty Vollmer pours a little more solution into the flask while preparing a distillation experiment. Gloria Garcia and Kitty Fischer don't seem to have as much confidence in Marty as she herself does.

CHEMIST

"Crooked letter, crooked letter U!"
Pat Bauch and Shirley Gallagher prepare the Science Club bulletin board amid chemical apparatus.

Business Club's Activities Keep Club Busy

"Student Directories hot off the press!"

Consuelo Robles and Sofia Angulo wonder if they're getting triple talk about the Student Directory from Mary Lulie Velarde, Dorothy Gonzales, and Helen Lamm.

Business Club of PHS, made up of future secretaries, publishes a yearly student directory. Keeping in practice, the members aid the faculty in providing assistant secretaries for them.

"Revising the Calendar?"

Planning projects for the year are Business Club officers - Gertrude Grothues, treasurer; Margaret Decock, president; Sylvia Garibay, secretary; and Barbara Finnegan, vice-president.

"Ready for a car-washing party?"

Patsy Fillinger, Mary Lulie Velarde, and Sylvia Garibay wait for Viola Grohman and Annie Lyssy to get in the car as they can be off on a field trip.

Nation Looks Toward Future Teachers

Starting their year with the pom-pom sale and continuing through with conventions and a radio raffle, the Future Teachers, under the guidance of Mrs. H. E. Stimel, get a good idea of a teacher's busy life. Their organization's aim is to interest the members in the vast world of teaching.

"String, string, who's got the string."

Carmen Ruiz, Jackie Anderson, Billie Ruth Pearce and Barbara Wagner, Future Teachers all, do a little bit of learning on the construction of pom-poms.

"I hope I look happy 'cause my feet are killing me!"

Kathy Gruen, district parliamentarian, and Marcia Welens, district Miss F.T.A., are two outstanding members of the F.T.A.

"An apple a day keeps detentions away!"

Gloria Ruiz and Sylvia Zamora present Sister Maureen and Sister Florence Marie with bright, shiny apples on F.T.A. Apple Day.

Future Nurses Club officers Charlene Bock, corresponding secretary; Carolyn Kotula, parliamentarian-historian; Marilyn Mayer, treasurer; Margaret McLemore, recording secretary; Erin Hermes, second vice-president; Carol Blakey, first vice-president; and Patsy Elder, president - pose after their installation into office for the year '57 - '58.

Future Nurses Plan Career of Service

With the aid of science, man's health is being looked after by those dedicated to medicine. Helping girls towards that goal, the Future Nurses gives them an idea of what life would be like as a nurse through film strips, speakers, and field trips to San Antonio's medical centers. Also the organization strives to create interest in the ever-growing field of medical science.

"If I don't have to take care of anyone like my little brother....."

Anna Perez, Sarah Bowick, and Sylvia Godoy discuss a prospective career in nursing.

"Do you think she'll live?"

Mary Alice Pena is in good hands...she hopes! They may not know exactly what's wrong, but Bernadette Bernal and Alice Coronado came to her rescue.

"Now, how do you make a quarter note again?"

Winding their merry musical way through theory class are Marie Ripps, Carolyn Finger, Eileen Doyle, Sarah Joeris, Angela Savoy, Jerry Von Schwanitz, and Linda Winters.

PHS'ers Study the Through Tri-M,

"Dentist's Delight!"

The ensemble, composed of Virginia Kutac, Barbara Small, Mary Solis, Chrystal Stark, Beatrice Gonzales, Mary Jo Nitsch, Eloise Hernandez, Nancy Deason, and Joan Arnett, accompanied by Ann Whitehead, come in on the downbeat.

Everything from Beethoven to Leroy Anderson-the musicians of Providence can show you how it's done. They know how to do it right too, as evidenced by the awards they win at annual events such as the National Auditions and the Guild.

"Liberace never had it so good!"

Virginia Knight and Mary Ellen Koch play a duet for the enraptured (Sister hopes) theory class.

Fine Arts Art Club

"Dare me to drop it?"

Admiring the work of much older artists, these modern-day artists—Sandra Cline, Dyanne Dingel, Jerry Barbera, Pat Garcia, Rosalind Rippstein, and Pauline Zuercher—have a glimpse at the past.

The Paletteers find beauty in everything from the simple lines of the atom to the delicate tracery of shadows on a wall. Their aim is to foster art appreciation, and they do this by visiting places of artistic beauty, by observing the works of great painters, and by striving to create their own masterpieces.

"The school's new expansion program?"

No, these are just some enthusiastic Art Club members. Vincy Ruffo, Patsy Elder, Carolyn Shultz, and Gracie Lopez work at their masterpieces of the San Antonio sky line.

"I hate to be different but I think it's....er.....beautiful!"

With their finished works behind them to inspire them, Anna Marie Flores, Grace Selva, Mary Lulie Velarde, and Paula Dlugosz feel that all is not lost, so they try again.

The Providence Chapter of the FHA, whose members consist of juniors and seniors, contributes greatly to the society of our school. Sister Bertina and her chapter members have among their many activities the annual style show, and adopted a main project which this year was the buying of the crib set for the chapel.

You take the stars and I'll take the stripes. Three junior Betsy Rosses, Genevive Karam, Barbara Christensen and Betty Daniels, make Texas flags for veterans as one of the FHA's annual activities.

Modesty is the best policy! Diana Jo Galvan and Marina Olivares "stand back" and admire the beautiful and meaningful FHA show case.

FHA, Red Cross Work "Toward New Horizons"

Let me prove my point. In Robert's Rules of Order....

Preparing for their meeting are Monica Chapter officers - Marilyn Margo, secretary; Paul Carabetta, treasurer; Rebecca Garcia, vice-president; and Cynthia Tatsch, president.

Ink, ink everywhere - and I left my pen at home!

FHA members Liz Lemes and Elizabeth Naughton act as official co-ink bottle fillers, graciously filling all the empty ink bottles of the school - an FHA project.

Few fully realize the kindness bestowed upon Providence by the Monica Chapter of the FHA. Its freshmen members, under the direction of Sister Angelina, fill diligently all ink bottles of the school "almost" faster than they are emptied. This year their main project is the starting of a fund, with which they, along with the other two chapters, will buy yearly, an article to be used in the future gym.

Knit one, purl two; knit two, purl one ... Danielle Kolodzie, Virginia Fultz, Nora Mae Gerloff, and Carol Howard are busily creating beautiful "autumn corsages".

The members of the Junior Red Cross, by their many activities, are realizing that much satisfaction can be derived from helping others. Some of their more prominent projects are filling gift boxes to send overseas, making tray favors, cookies and candy cups for hospitals and orphanages. They find that giving generously of their time is worth its weight in personal satisfaction.

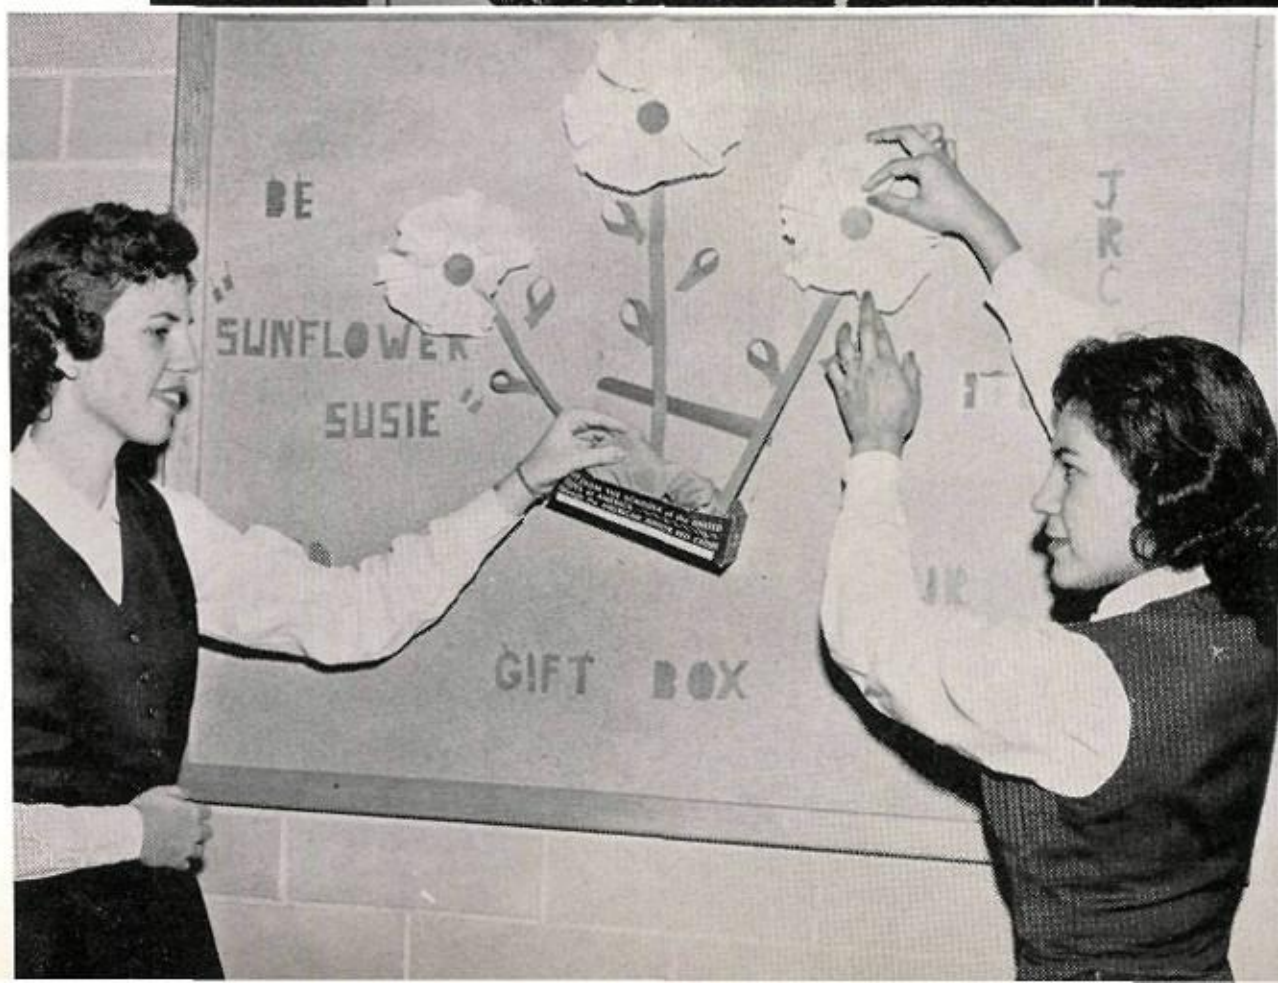

"Roll one, stamp one, roll one, stamp one....."

"She must have kissed the Blarney stone!"

Grace Cortez, Julia Karam, and Mary Jane Gosnell admire the 'Little Shamrock Lady' which was sent to the veteran's hospital for Saint Patrick's Day.

"Don't you think they could use some Vigoro?"

Kathy Gruen and Mary Jane Obregon prepare the latest Junior Red Cross bulletin board.

"Shall I put these books according to the alphabet or according to color?"

Barbara Carlin and Barbara Anderson are busy performing their duties as library assistants.

The members of the Teen Age Library Association act as a source of energy to the library by serving as desk assistants and by shelving books. This year, the TALA adopted the responsibility of buying a new white Mass vestment since the library is the scene of daily Mass.

N. H. S.'ers Find Formula for Success

At the 1958 National Honor Society reception, girls from the respective classes were given recognition for their outstanding leadership, scholarship, service, and character. Among the new members pictured are Seniors Rosemary Berlon, Margaret DeCock, Patsy Elder, Barbara Farrish, Barbara Finnegan, Gertrude Grothues, Patti Popp, Barbara Wagner, and Ann Wunch; Juniors Dyanne Dingel, Catherine Fischer, Doris Juenke, Virginia Knight, Barbara Lutz, Rosemary Milligan, Jo Ella Osborn, Francis Shipman, Helen Tower, Gail Voelker, Beverly Volz, Ann Whitehead. Sophomores attaining probationary membership are Joyce Dupre, Mary Jo Grothues, Patricia Haby, Judy Heye, Carol Kettler, Amy Klein, Margaret Quinn, and Janice Richards.

Presiding over the PTC meeting is Mr. Richard Volz, president, assisted by Mr. H. Koch, treasurer; Mr. O. J. Bock, first vice-president; Mrs. L. R. Gramer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. S. Siebenaler, second vice-president; and Mrs. C. M. Fischer, recording secretary. Not pictured is Mr. W. J. Robitzsch, parliamentarian.

One of the busiest groups connected with Providence is the Parent-Teacher Club which promotes good relations between faculty members and parents. Their many activities include holding their regular monthly meetings and game parties, and sponsoring graduation and the senior luncheon.

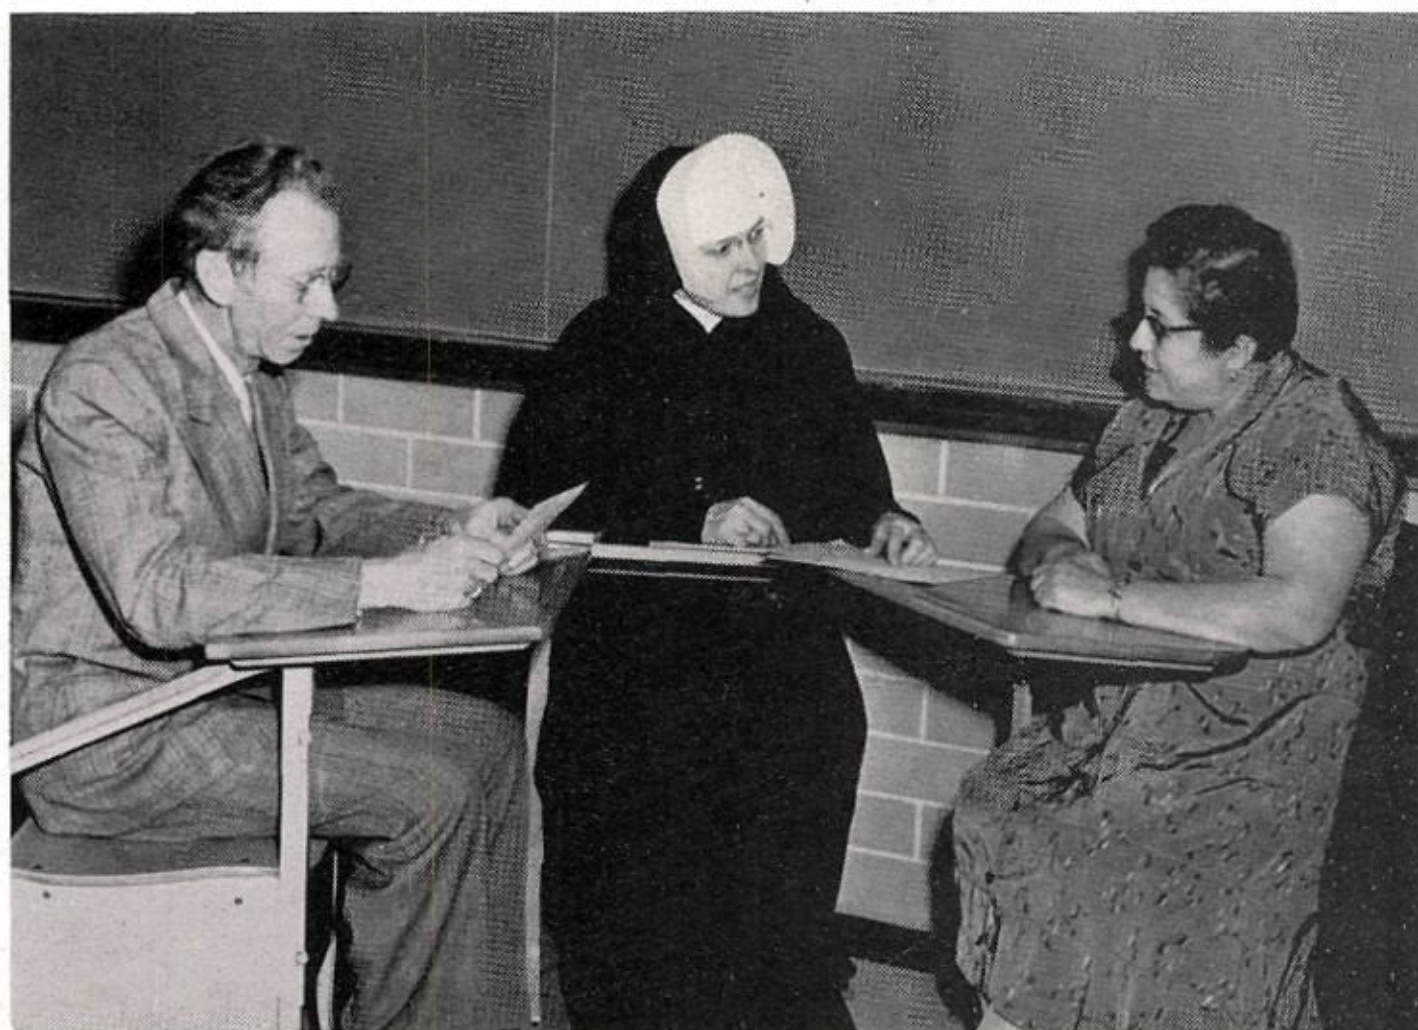

Smiles of accomplishment show on the faces of these PTC members as they close another eventful meeting with refreshments.

P-T C Works Toward Better PHS

"I'll tell you what I'm gonna do!" The masters of the squirrel cage, Mr. Robert Cline and Mr. Alfred Gianotti, preside at the P-TC Games Party.

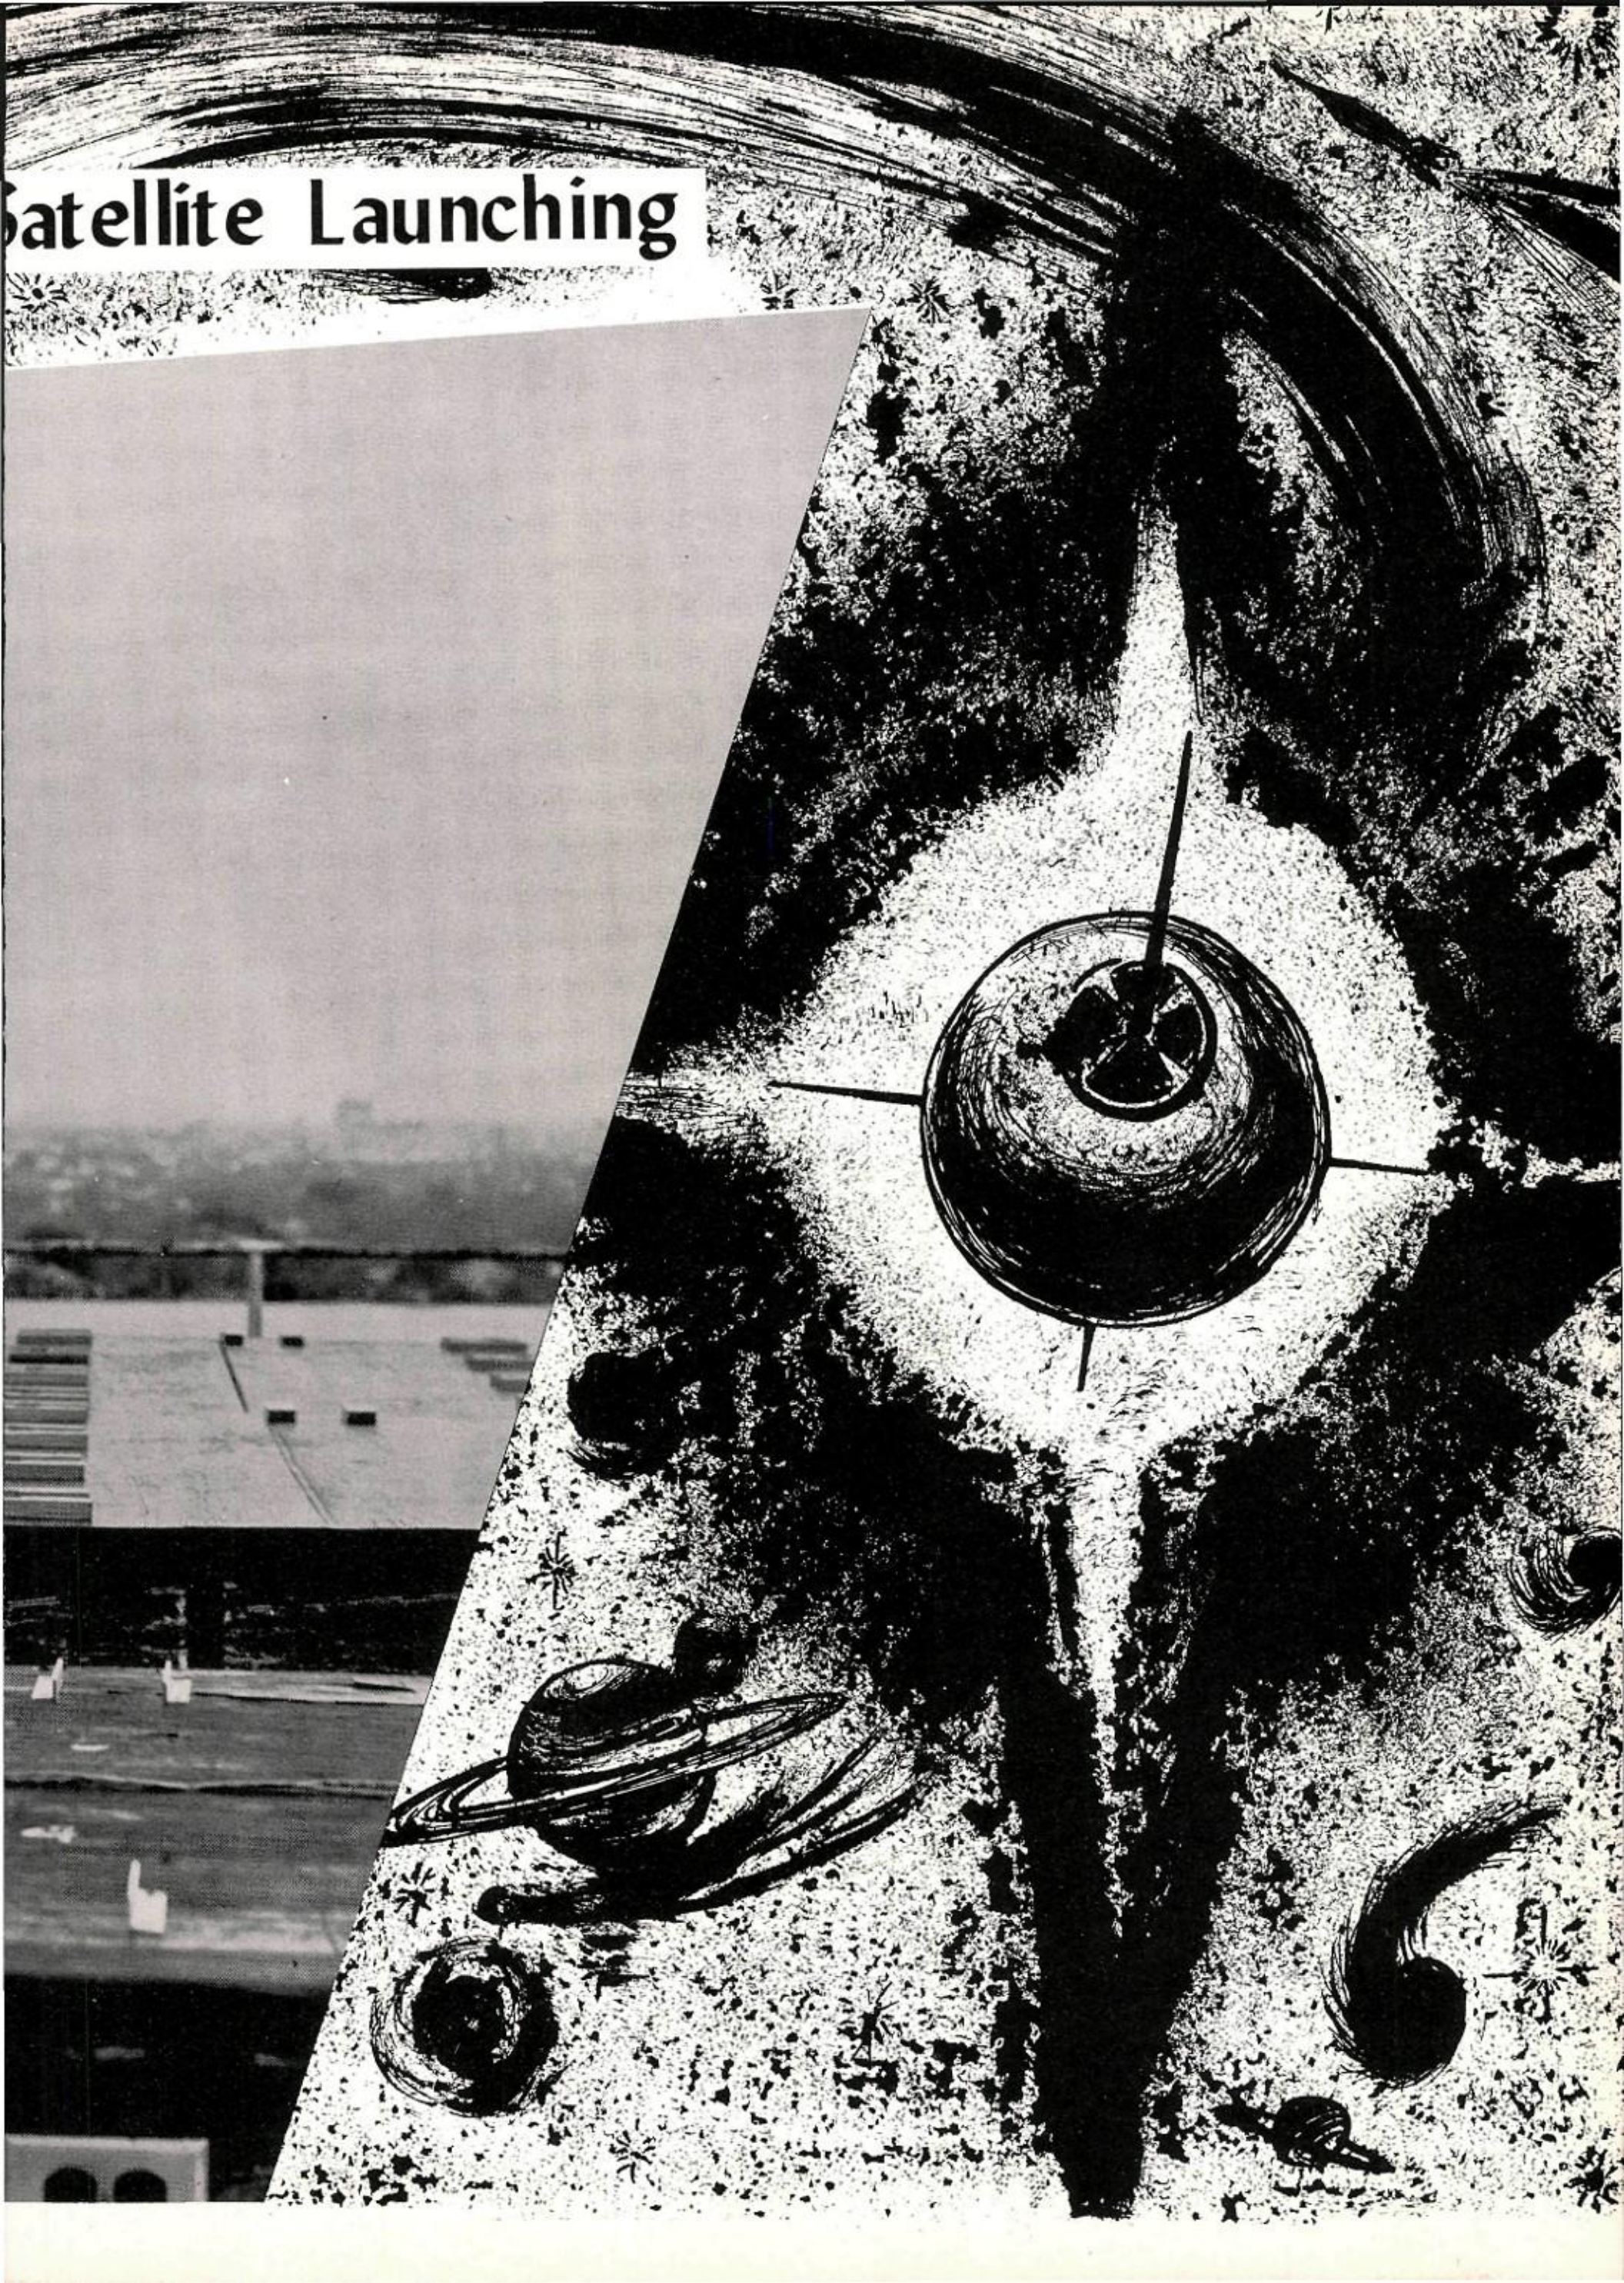

"That's taken care of then."
Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gramer meet with Sister Angelina during a Parent-Teacher Conference.

Looking at odd-shaped objects called Sputniks and Explorers are Gail Voelker, Sodality prefect and Janet Kee, Student Council president. How will these new developments given us by science affect our religious and civic lives? The future will tell.

"...And here we find the friendly natives of the island."

The "friendly natives" of PHS enjoy the music at the dance sponsored by the Student Council.

"Did they come from American Bandstand?"

"Fish" Tommie Loverde and Ruth Ann Miller show seniors and "fish" how to jitterbug; and Mary Ellen Koch, senior, takes it all in.

"The four freshmen?"

Senior Class Officers Pat Towers, Mary Ellen Koch, Bobbe Billmeier, and Gay Jordan open up the Senior-Fish party with a hearty welcome.

"Double trouble?"

Twin Fish Marilyn and Carolyn Brown prove double trouble for Seniors as they are made to whistle after eating a cracker.

"Lights, camera, action!"

The finished product of the juniors' efforts is the stage where the seniors' rings await them.

Class of '58 Begin Role as Seniors

"I'll get one next year, just wait!"

Beverly Volz daydreams as Father James Moore puts Sylvia Aguirre's senior ring on her finger.

"Who's the next lucky one, Father?"

Father John Fitzgerald looks over his list of seniors as Sandra Winfield receives her ring from Father Moore.

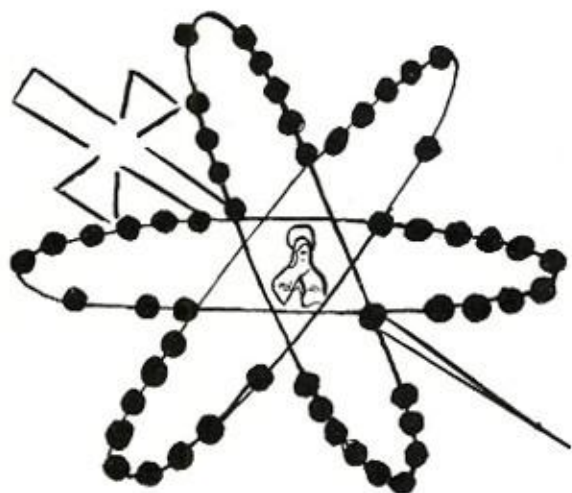

"Ite Missa est....Go, the Mass is ended."

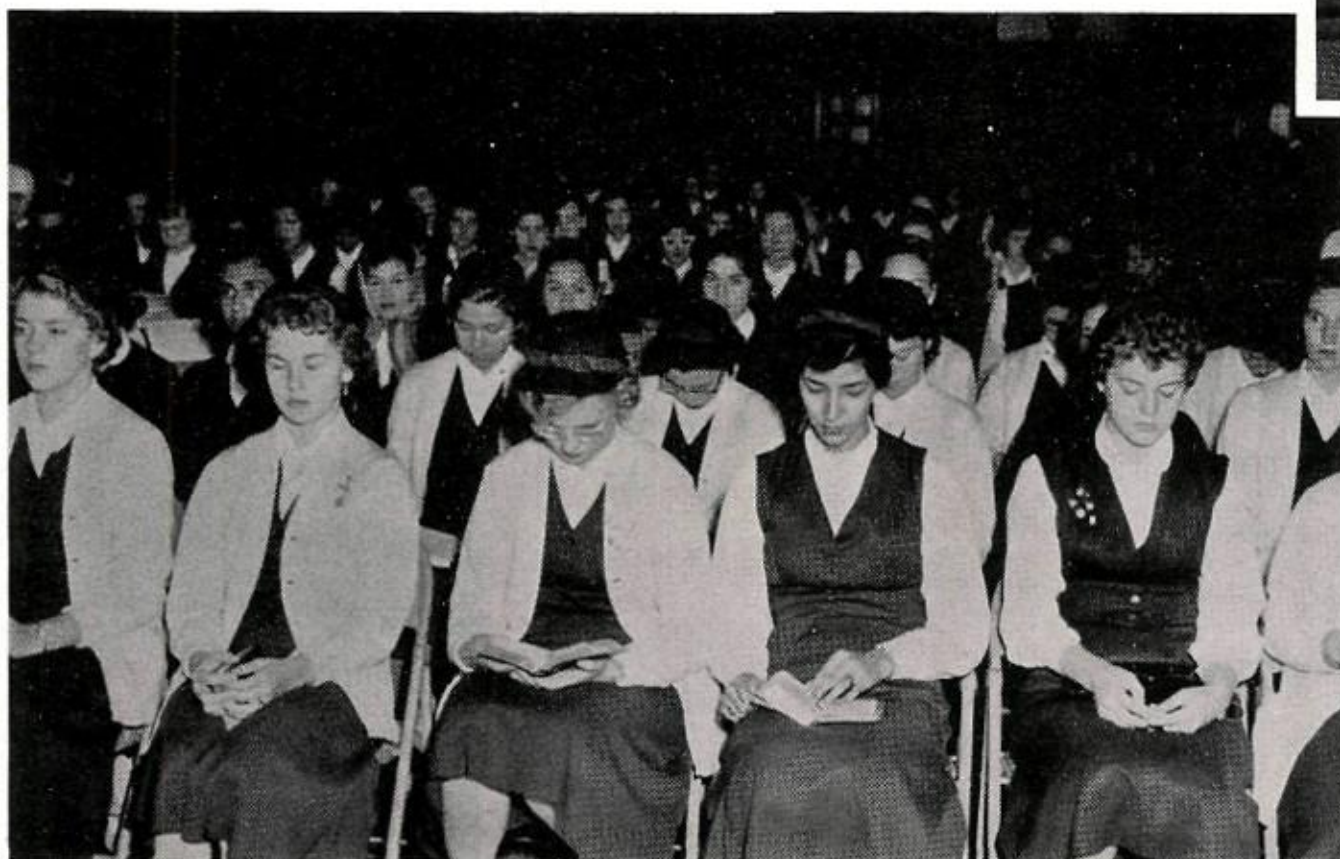

Reverend John Curly, S.J., opens the annual retreat by celebrating Mass for the Providence student body.

Retreat Casts Spiritual Footlights on Stage of PHS

"Hey, you over there, WAKE UP! !"

Delivering the first conference of the retreat is Father Curly, retreat master.

"Could these be canonized some day?"

Reading spiritual books and praying while waiting for Father are these PHS'ers.

Color Day comes but once a year and when that "once" rolls around, P.H.S. falls into a state of utter, but active, confusion. This activity tends to sharpen school spirit and to bring forth hidden talents, artistic and otherwise. When the day of "judgment" finally arrives, and the confusion has turned slowly into organization, Providence steps forth to receive her honors.

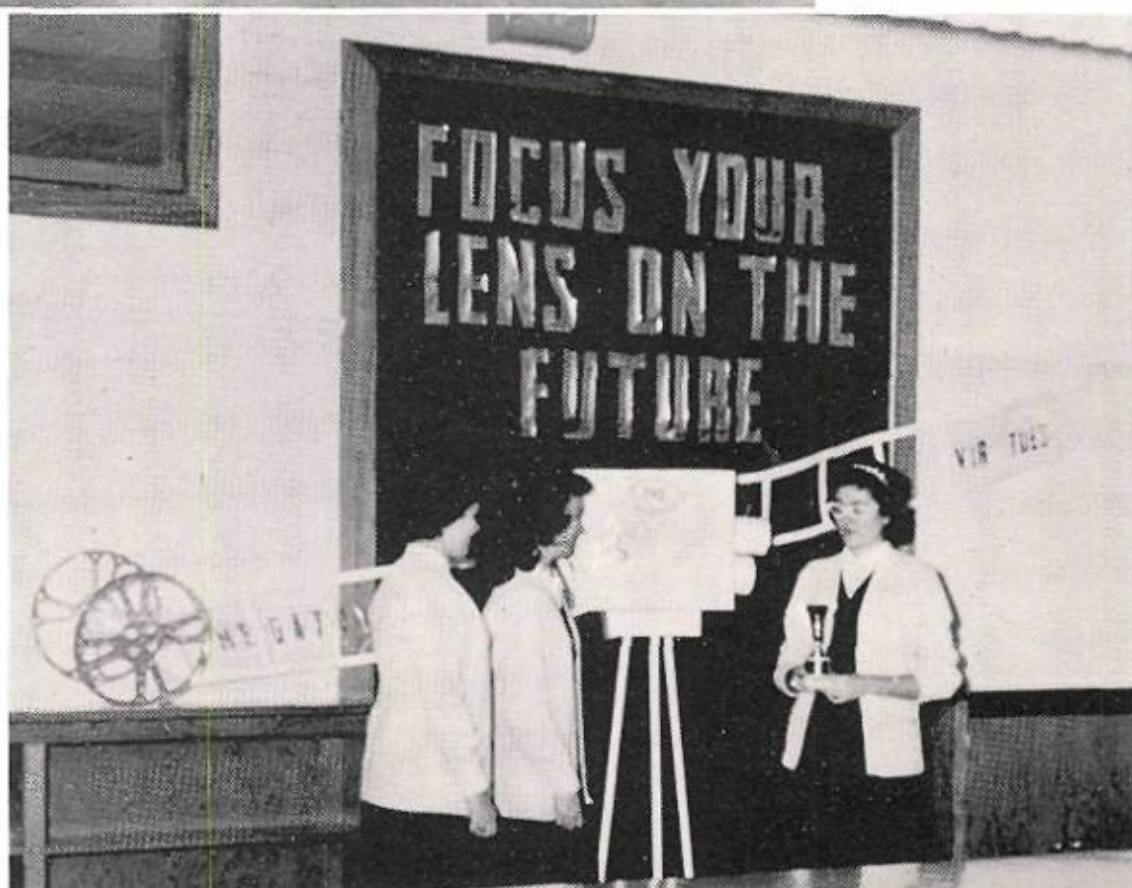

"We're ole Providence hands!"

Lorraine Parks, Barbara Diver, Carol Jean Braden, and Mary Ellen Koch, first prize winners from 103, beam with pride as they display their "very large" trophy.

"Chemistry is good for something!"

Proving it with their second prize are Seniors Judy Britton, Patti Popp, and Jerry Barbera from 101.

"When a camera clicks..."

Judy Kosharek, Ann Campbell, and Bunny Bowick proudly show their third prize trophy to the P.H.S. audience.

"Fouled again....caught doodling!"

Dianna Jo Galvan, Patsy Ascencion, and Rita Gianotti were certainly not "caught doodling" as their first honorable mention Color Day display clearly shows.

Seniors 'Clean - Up' On Color Day

"Hey, Girl, your socks are rolled up!"

Judy Britton and Alice Vollmer as Tweedle-Dum and Tweedle-Dee entertain Judy Poston, who played Alice in the Color Day production of "Alice in Wonderland."

"Seniors are quite a class...."

Seniors gratefully accept and acknowledge their leadership with the singing of their pep song.

"I'll explore art more often if it brings a first place ribbon!"

Pat Garcia, Jerry Barbera, and Bunny Bowick admire their first place Art Club display.

"Put 'er there, pardner!"

Student Council Officers Patti Popp, Janet Kee, Marty Vollmer, and Carolyn Strawn give themselves a pat on the back for their second place display.

Art Display Tops in Book Week Observance

Book Week was commemorated this year with each club donating the book of its choice to the library. A display was set up around each book and at the annual tea given by the Library Club, awards were presented to the first, second, and third place winners.

"At all times??"

Sylvia De Leon, Mary Louise Felan, and Dianna Jo Galvan stand by the FHA third place book display.

Senior Crowned Miss Courtesy of '58

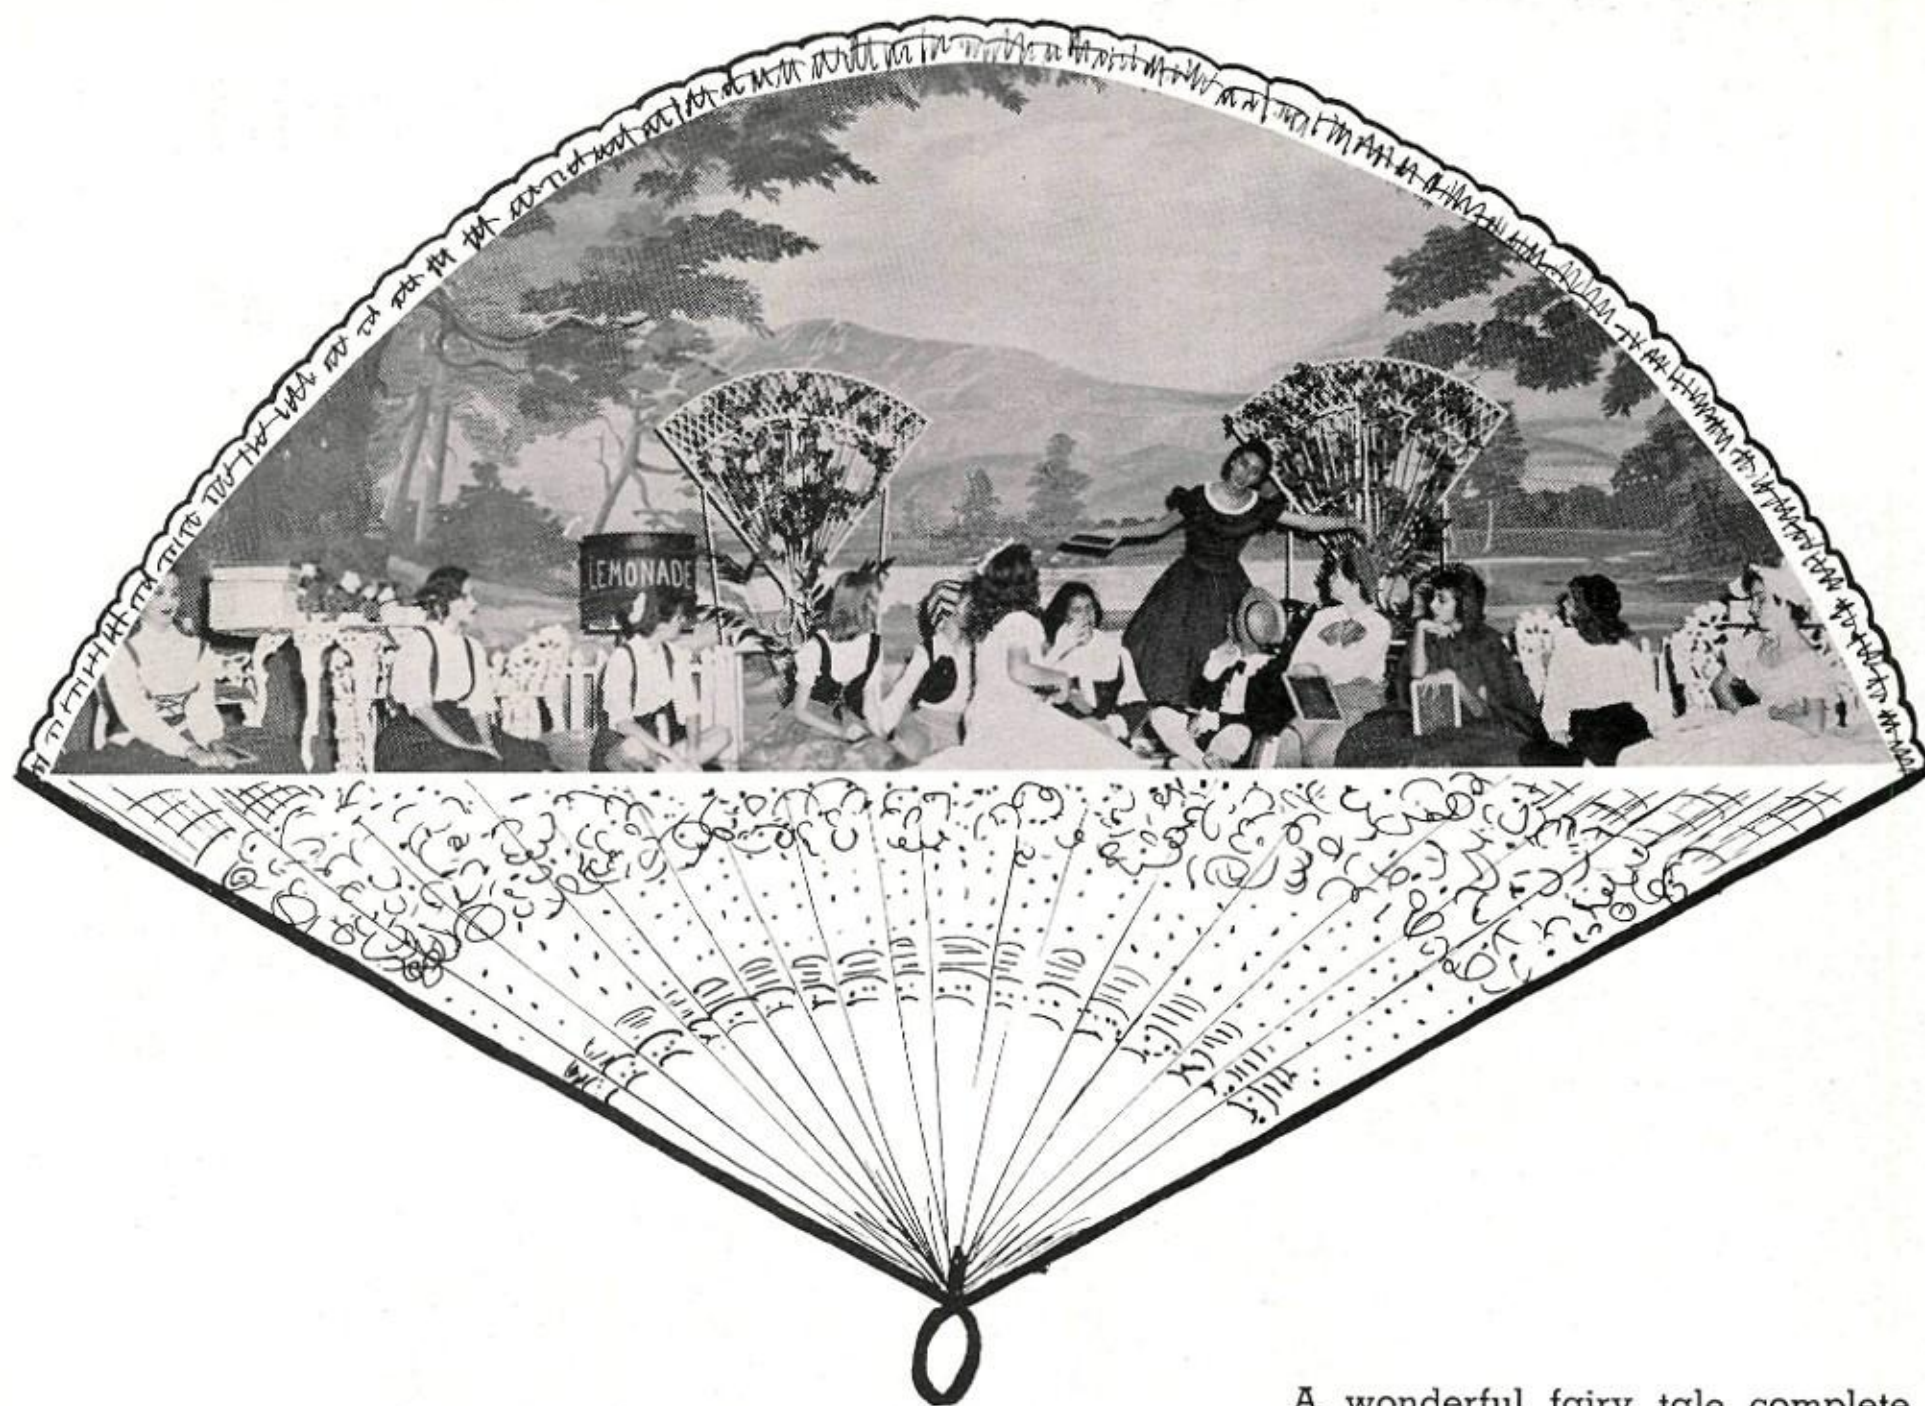

Diana Porras doesn't seem to mind the remarks coming from the on-lookers after being pronounced Miss Courtesy of 1958.

Courtesy is contagious in Providence each year as Courtesy Week, sponsored by the Student Council, appears on the calendar. Trying to keep their red bows, PHS'ers greet each other with a "howdy, ya'll". Faculty members are never burdened with carrying their own books to school because a prospective "Miss Courtesy" is always on the spot. Courtesy is contagious at PHS.

Diana Porras proudly showing off her title of Miss Courtesy poses by the Student Council bulletin board.

"Do I get a credit for this class?"
The Cast of "Babes in Toyland" are shown in the Garden Scene.

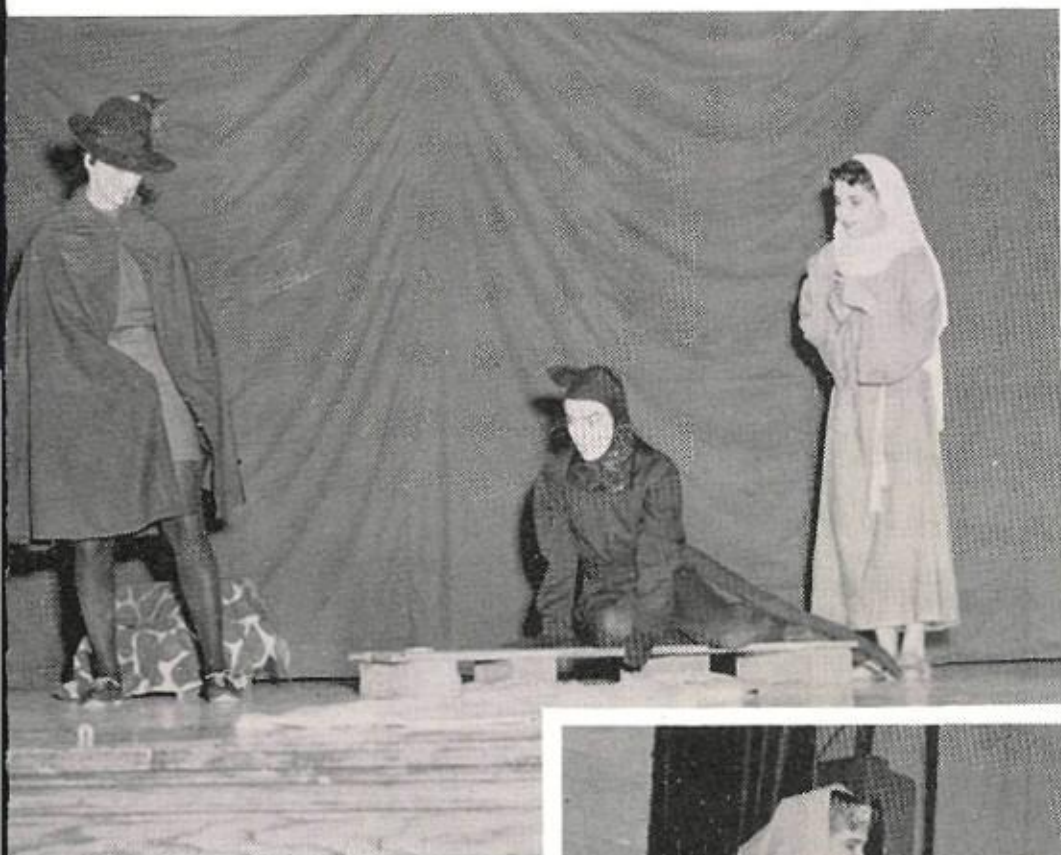

"Toyland, toyland, wonderful girl and boy land..."
All are happy as the Master Toy-maker, Donald Siebenaler, distributes toys to all the Piper children.

A wonderful fairy tale complete with a good fairy, dancing dolls, and a kindly toy-maker set the scene for "Babes in Toyland," the Marian Choristers' offering for this year. Virginia Kutac and William Johnson played the leads of Mary and Allan while Mary Theresa Solis and Charles Brussels portrayed Jane and Tom; and, of course, as no fairy tale is complete without a villain, Alfred Alonzo was master of the evil department as Barnaby.

One Act Play, Operetta Provide Dramatic Touch to School Year

The devil (Gail Voelker), slinking off the stage, gave one last grimace at the triumphant Abbess Kado (Jerry Barbera), her cat (Dyanne Dingle), Madame Mathurin (Rosemary Milligan), and her daughter (Rosalind Ripstein), bringing "Parade at the Devil's Bridge" to a successful close. Providence's entry in the one-act contest merited a superior rating with Gay Jordan as the Property Girl, receiving the Best Actress Award and Dyanne Dingle, receiving an honorable mention for the Cat's performance. The play was under the direction of Sister Mary Michael.

"Get off my tail!"

"But I don't want to go!"

Gay Jordan, as property girl, rated the Best Actress Award at the One Act Play Festival.

"Yes, Yes.....go on!"

Sophs Prove P. E. Worthwhile

Take Volleyball Trophy

Getting off to a good start, sophomore home room 205 was victorious over all. Beginning by defeating the freshmen, they kept on going, winning over their upper-classmen - both juniors and seniors. Being the only class winning all their games. Being the only class winning all their games, the Sophs won the trophy without the final heated game at Central

"Over here, over there, there are sophomores everywhere..."

Celebrating their well earned victory over the rest of the school in volleyball intramurals, room 205, the victors, backed up by their sophomore classmates, hoist their trophy high.

"We've got that grand feeling!"

"Geddap, you lazy, slowpokin' hoss!"

About to begin a wheelbarrow race in P. E. are Mimi Schiffers, Danielle Kolodzie, and Dottie Gosnell. Jackie Giroud, Beverly Zimmerman, and Royce Dornwell portray the human wheelbarrow.

Teaching good sportsmanship and keeping students physically fit are the aims of the physical education classes. A few of the sports participated in by the students are volleyball, basketball, baseball, and occasional back-breaking exercises.

"Ready....Aim...."

Patti Barbera obtains from Susan Brennan "helpful hints" on how to make the bowling ball roll down the alley without her finger left in it.

"How!" "How, yourself!?"

Sharon Beck, Karen Sue Duncan, Jeanetter Tarrillion, and Carol Risz clap rhythm to the dance performed by Mary Agnes Granieri and Jane Sanford.

"Mary's Boy Child"

Part of the school decorations put up by the Senior Class was the Crib Scene which stood in the yard lending the Christ-spirit to Christmas.

The Marian Choristers, under the direction of Sister Agnes Rose, sing with the fullest of holiday spirit at the annual Christmas Pageant.

A break is taken for a lively gab session.

Climax Year

The Christmas season rushed in with a whirl of activities beginning with the Pageant presented by the Sodality, Speech Club, and Choral Club. The Bundle Procession to the Jesse Tree in the lobby followed; and then to wind up their holiday season in wonderful style, PHS'ers attended the Juniors' Christmas dance, the Holland Holiday.

Sophomore Reigns As Queen of Nations

"From around the world" they come-- "to keep a Rendezvous."

The court of her majesty are as follows: Kitty Fischer, mistress of ceremonies; Ninon Cadena, Spirit of France; Lady Elsa Medina and Escort, Frank Cadena; Sandra Escamilla, Spirit of Spain; Princess Anna Marie Flores, and her escort, Louis Zatarain; Royal Pages--Annette and Lizbeth Ling; Queen Joyce Dupre and escort, Jimmie Zotz; Spirit of Ireland Renee Pingnot; Duchess Carolyn Kotula and her escort, Eddy Godwin; Countess Edna Sandoval and her escort, Rene Sandoval; Spirit of Japan Patty Huskey; Lady Marilyn Moore, escorted by Robert Lozano; Spirit of Austria--Linda Moore.

"Dream Along With Me"

The Queen and her escort, Jimmie Zotz, begin an enchanted evening with the first dance.

"Her Majesty glides regally along the stairway to the stairway to the stars..."

Queen Joyce of the House of Dupre bestows her gracious smile upon the loyal subjects of her court.

The Senior Class presented "Song of Bernadette" on February 21, 22, and 27, 1958, as a commemoration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the apparitions of Our Lady of Lourdes to Bernadette Soubirous. The double cast consisted of:

Seniors Stage 'Song of Bernadette' in Honor of Lourdes Centennial

Bobbe Billmeier and Sandra Winfield play the title roll in the "Song of Bernadette."

Alan Siebenaler as Jacomet questions Sandra Winfield about her visions and endeavors to persuade her that she made them all up.

As Sandra Winfield (Bernadette) sees the Blessed Mother, Alan Siebenaler, Vincy Ruffo, Bob Maese, Mary Esther Arechiga, Jerry Barbera, and Carmen Ruiz, kneel in expectation.

Come Sun or Snow - Providence Will Shine

As basketball season rolled around, PHS'ers began brushing up on their techniques in preparation for the basketball intramural games. Games between home rooms finally eliminated the teams to one per class. Competition between classes followed, leaving the sophomores and seniors to play off in the final game.

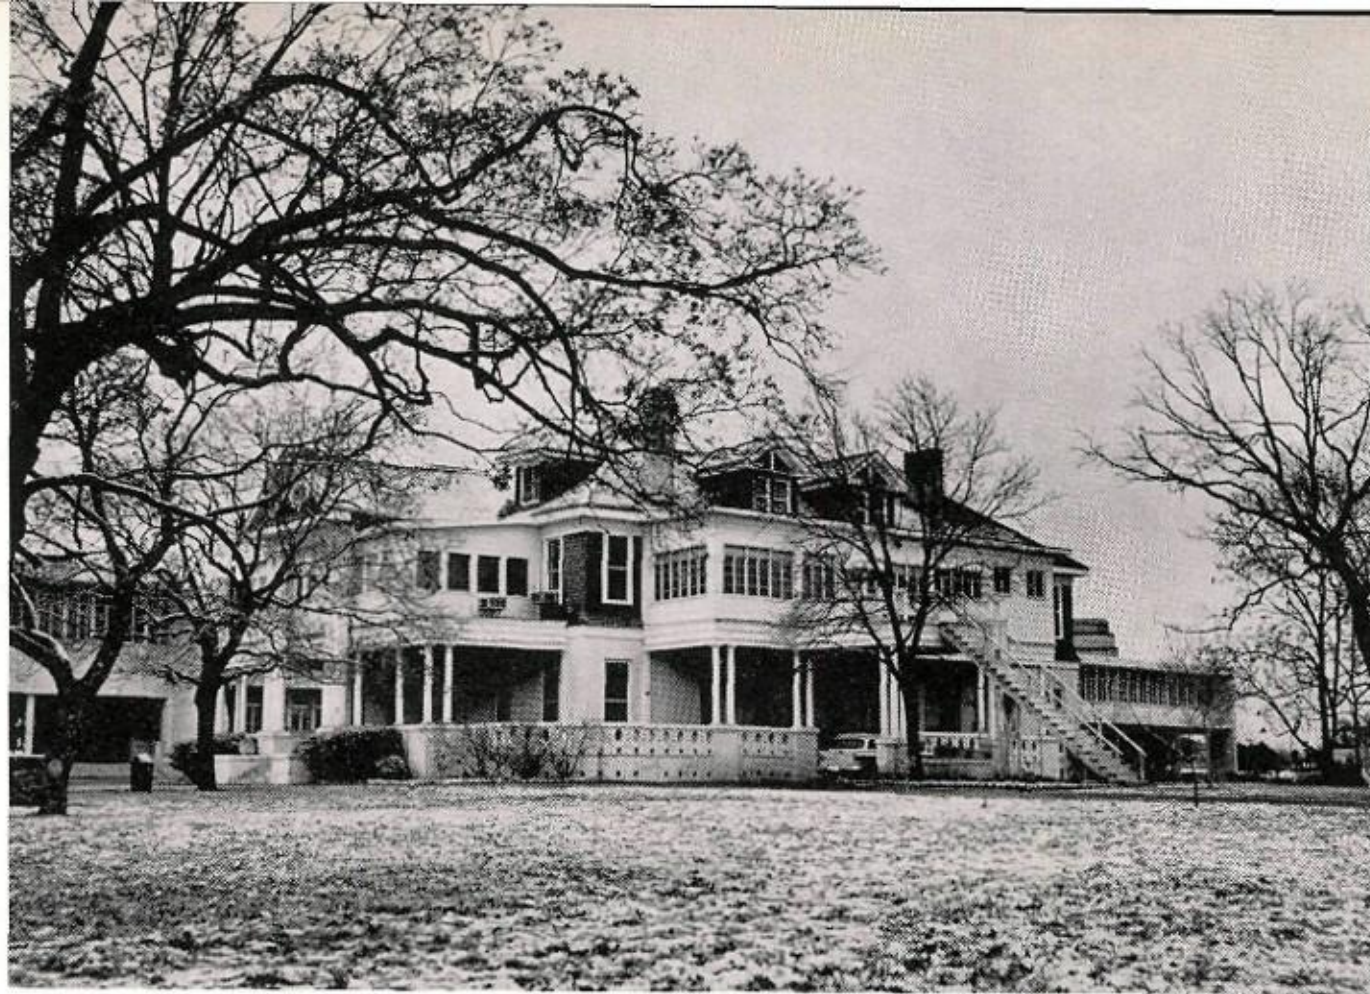

"It's gonna go - go - go....oops! Missed again!"

Photographer Gilda catches one of the many exciting moments in the basketball game between the juniors and the sophomores.

"Gail's really onoops....off the ball!"

"Winter wonderland."

No, the sun cannot be blamed for the splotchy scene. Eager PHS'ers just couldn't resist wearing it away through snow fights. After all, San Antonians do not get this chance often.

"I challenge you to a... blub!"

Living it up in the oddity of a Texas winter - real snow - are these snowball pitching freshmen, Nancy Hug, Jo Ann Spencer, Ernestina Solis, and Royce Dornwell.

"First place by popular demand!"

Claire Cotter, Barbara Wagner, Margaret McLemore, and Virginia Kutac add finishing touches to their table which won them the popularity trophy and which was awarded second place by judges in Joske's Table Setting Contest.

Dear Kathy
Best of Luck to a very deserving girl. Can you believe it that we finally made it.
Good Luck

Just like
Somewhere beyond the bright light of day

Elise "Ellie" Hernandez
Further than the star of night,

rehearsal
A corps of little angels played

Impishly, laughing in delight.

Our Lady of the Lake College Strives to Solve Puzzle of Education, Life, Life Everlasting

A world of knowledge
at her fingertips!

Laughs, fun, life: These are the offerings of society.

Who can describe a college woman? She is as simple as 2 plus 2 and as involved as the theory of relativity. The college woman is contrary, complex, contradictory, and without her there would be no life, no living, no questions to be posed or answered.

Our Lady of the Lake College presents to the student the highest accreditations: B.A., M.B.S., M.S. in S.W., and M.A. in Ed. The college proper offers familiarity, friendliness, and the atmosphere most needed for the growth of a complete woman: spiritual life, cultural life, and physical life.

Interest, sincerity, simplicity: The challenge of a life worth living.
